

Students using their sense to investigating the direction of wind and how it changes.

